Welcome Newest California Fellows

AIA National announced the names of the 147 architects elevated to Fellowship status this month, and California has a significant number. Congratulations to all! Read more . . .

California in the Top 10

The USGBC released their top 10 list of states for LEED. California came in 7th, but wait till you see the number and square footage of LEED projects. We should all be proud. Read more . . .
2015 Concrete Masonry Design Awards

Interested in entering this program co-sponsored by the AIACC? Read more . . .

Title 24 training we don't want you to miss

This training is important, and we can stress that enough. We understand that a topic such as building commissioning to ensure energy efficiency now required for all new nonresidential buildings in California per the 2013 code may not float to the top of your priority list. Read more . . .
New Fellows Announced https://ui.constantcontact.com/visualeditor/visual_editor_preview.jsp?age...