On February 21, the Board of Directors announced this year’s Council Award recipients. To see the list of winners, click here.
The Missing 32%

If you haven’t already done so, we suggest familiarizing yourself with the Missing 32% Project. And be sure to take the survey here. Both MEN and WOMEN who graduated from professional Architectural programs are strongly encouraged.

Read on . . .

ENR Conferences not to be missed

FutureTech in March and Innovation Conference in May.

Read on . . .

Passings

San Diego-based architect Alfonso Macy, AIA, died Jan. 18 in Point Loma. He was 85. A member of AIA San Diego since 1960 and Board President in 1975, Macy left his mark on San Diego in a few ways. Read about his legacy in this San Diego Union Tribune article.

Former California State Architect, John Worsley, FAIA, died Feb. 20 at the age of 94. Appointed by Governor Ronald Reagan in 1973, he left his post in 1975 in order to become the project architect for the renovation of the California State Capitol building. This was just one example in a large portfolio of projects that better enhanced his community. Read this obituary posted in the Feb. 25 edition of the Sacramento Bee for more on his life and his work.